Dr. Smith's Lectures on Geology.

No. VIII. Dr. Smith commenced his Lecture last evening by saying that the term Plutonic expressed a fact. It did not denote that the Plutonic rocks came from the infernal regions, but that they were once in a state of fusion. They are all chrystaline. though not stratified. The earth had not been directly explored more than a mile in depth, but Pallas has stated that he had made discoveries to the depth of sixty miles. He claims to have made this discovery in Russia, on the borders of the Black Sea, where there are beds of rocks that dip at an angle of about 45 degrees. Supposing this bed to have once lain horizontal, as it undoubtedly did, and to have been upheaved obliquely, the edges of rock appearing at the surface of the earth would reveal the character of the rock at a great depth below, as they all belong to the same bed. Pallas thus estimated that he discovered to a depth of sixty miles. Dr. Smith thought this estimate too large-that geologists had discovered to the depth of about thirty miles, and this was the opinion of Prof. Hitchcock.

Above the Plutonic are Metamorphic rocks which are crystaline and stratified. They contain no animal remains; and above these are the Amorphous rocks, which are also destitute of organic

Above these the rocks contained organic re mains; and one of the first, and the lowest in the scale of animated nature, is the trilobite, an animal which resembles the modern horse-shoe. The most remarkable feature of this animal is its eye, which turns in every direction, and enables the animal to see all ways without turning its head. The lowest vegetable remains are but those of a few simple trees. Both the animals and vegetables of this period are of the simplest kind, but they were much larger than any now in existence. He exhibited the tooth of a modern shark, which belonged to an animal 10 or 12 feet long. He also held up the tooth of a fossil shark, which, comparing it with the modern tooth, he estimated must have belonged to an animal at least 150 feet There is no reason to think that man was eve larger than he is at present. He thought there was no degeneracy from the ancients, excepting the Athenians. This people, especially in the days of Pericles excelled all nations, either ancient or Next he spoke of the mineral formation which the geologists commonly call the Secondary Formation. The first animal appearing here is the opos sum, which is the lowest of the vertebrated order of animals, and is the connecting link between the .igher and the lower animals. There would have seen difficulty in the higher order of animals breath ng in the impure atmosphere of that age-oneeighth of which was carbonic-acid. It was neces sary that the lime should be formed to absorb the carbonic acid and make the limestone before the superior animals could exist.

In this formation is found the Plesiesaurus of the lizard tribe. To illustrate the universal law of nature that the stronger should prey on the weaker-that all must eat or be eaten-this animal i represented with a telodactyle, one of the bat tribe in his mouth, which in his turn has hold of a dragon-fly. These animals have all passed away. The principal vegetable of this age was a species of palm of huge size.

He digressed to dispose of the subject of teeth The nature and babits of an animal could be illustrated by the structure of its teeth. This he illustrated by exhibiting the teeth of several animals, and commenting on their habits. Above this formation are first the old red sand stone, and then the carboniferous lime stone strata-next to which is coal formation.

On its origin the books do not give much information. It is always found at this point. Why is this? He could give no very satisfactory answer. Lyell said that the fire clay always under laid the coal. Why is coal always found here, and not elsewhere? He could not say. The coal is now believed to be of vegetable origin. This has indeed been demonstrated by Dr. Sutton, who had by pulverization and by microscopic observations demonstrated the existence of a fibrous structure in coal; and geologists have gone so far as to classify the plants from which the coal has been formed. This evidence was decisive.

By what process has the wood been converted into coal? The only solution he could give was that the trees were drifted to the mouth of some river, or into some lake, and deposited in clear water. Thus deposite after deposite was made, until the thick stratum of coal was formed. Lignite was formed in the same way, and is but coal of the most recent origin. Anthracite was once thought to be older than the Bituminous coal, but the reverse is now believed to be the case. He again alluded to the exhaustion of the coal in England, and estimated the annual consumption at twenty millions of tons. The coal was deposited before the tertiary formation. The coal is of recent origin-he estimated it at ten or fifteen thousand years. Above the coal was the New Red Sandstone. In this stone a bird track, resembling a human hand, had been discovered by Mr. Owen. From the subsequent investigations of Professor Hitchcock, it was no doubt the track of an animal of the galliaceous tribe. It must have resembled the barn-door fowl, or turkey, and was probably thirty feet high.

There were no animals of the Mid-aeval ages that inhabited this land.

Next above is the chalk. In this county there is no chalk; though there is a contemporaneous deposite of silex. Silex and chaik are formed by the shells deposited by insects, which Dr. Smith described on his diagrams. In the tertiary region are found the remains of the large animals; the largest of which, whose skeleton has been seen nearly entire, is the Dinotherium. In remains of this class this country is rich. Apples, peaches, pears, oranges, figs, cherries,

&c. &c., come to fine perfection. Oats and clover spontaneously, and of superior qualities to any grown in the Western country.

With the exception of narrow skirts of oak along the streams, the valleys are entirely destitute of timber; they are covered with oats, clover, and grass, the most luxuriant the eye ever beheld. The ridges, or hills, are covered with timber of the finest quality, for ship-building and other purposes, and growing to the enormous height of 200 feet, and twenty feet in diameter. The streams abound in fish, and the plains are covered with thousands of wild horses, elk, deer, antelope, bear, wild ducks, geese and brants. The climate is mild and remarkably healthy, there being no disease, either endemic or epidemic. He saw green pumpkins, lettuce, gourds, &c., growing finely during all the months of last winter. Contrary to the common belief the Mastodon, he stated is not as large as the elephant. The remains of these two animals are abundantly strewed throughout our country. Mr. Cooper has estimated that at the Big Bone Lick in Kentucky there are the bones of 100 mastedons and 20 elephants .-The teeth of the horse have been found in a fossil state. The mastedon whose remains have been found in every part of the globe, is now extinct. There had been a gradual destruction of the animal race since the chalk era. He had no theory to account for this. There had been no new animal created since historic times. Adopting the chronology of the Septuagist it would make the date of the birth of the race about 7000 years back .-This would accord well with geological facts.

Dr. Smith, in conclusion, said, that as he had not written his lectures, he had got more matter on hand than he could dispose of in eight lectures. He should therefore give another lecture on Friday evening next, on the natural history of manthe varieties of the race, and its destiny.

Execution .- David Douglass was executed on Wednesday the 30th ult. at Lockport, Niagara Co. for the murder of Henry Cunningham. The Courier says:

"The appearance of the prisoner was up to the ast moment cool and self-possessed. Not a sign of fear was discoverable. The evening before his execution be made an attempt to hang himself, and from his whole demeanor there is too much reason for apprehending that he met his fate an unrelent-

A PANTHER KILLED IN CANTON, ST. LAW-RENCE Co .- We learn from the St. Lawrence paper, that the sportsmen of the village of Canton have been amusing themselves with new game. A track of some wild animal having been discovered near the village, three expert marksmen, with their rifles, started in pursuit, and after a pursuit of four miles, started a full grown panther. He took to a tree, from which, after several shots, he was finally dislodged and dragged in triumph to the village.

A SINGULAR ACCIDENT .- The Washington (Arkansas) Telegraph informs us that a man named Hollman lost his life near Mursfreeborough, Pike county, a few days ago, in rather a singular way. He had been drinking pretty freely, and thrust his Bowie knife without a sheath, into his saddle-bags. The knife cut through the saddle-bags, and pierced the artery of his leg, which caused him to bleed to death. Aroused to a sense of his situation, and out of the reach of help, he had scrambjed to a pool of water, where he was afterwards found ROBBERY AND DETECTION .- A colored man ome time since went to the house of an elderly ady, residing in Calvert county, Maryland, in the absence of any male member of her family, and after beating her severely, robbed the house of $500 in money. He was subsequently apprehended, and, without much ceremony, hung up four or five times by the neck until nearly dead. By this means he was induced to confess the crime and tell where he had secreted the money.

A PAINFUL SUICIDE.-To the numerous cases f suicide caused by the trouble of the times, the Marengo (Ala.) Jeffersonian adds another, that of Wm. N. Booth, of the neighborhood of Prairieville, in that State. "A heavy amount," says the editor, was in execution against him in the hands of the sheriff, and he had promised either to deliver his property here on last Monday (that being sale day) or be here with the money to lift the claims. Having failed in being able to perform the latter promise, and not wishing to see his property sacrificed. he terminated his existence."

TYesterday morning, about 4 o'clock, a brilliant meteor, with a tail about two yards long, was seen to pass above our city from the West, until it reached the middle of the bay, when it disappeared. During its progress, small particles would become detached, making its path quite [Mobile Advertiser, 26th ult. brilliant.

A remarkable development of a murder has been made in Wayne county, N. C. A young man named Grimsley appeared there four months since, and was about to be married to Miss Martin. While making some wedding clothes, she lit upon an advertisement by the Governor of Mississippi, offering a large reward for two men charged with murder in that State, one of them named Grimsley, and agreeing precisely in description with the man to whom she was about to be married. She immediately called her brother's attention to it, who at once called upon Grimsley for an explanation. After some delay, he confessed hat he was present at the murder, and was thereupon taken into custody.

LETTERSOCMARY, QUEEN of SCOTS, and Documents connected with her Personal History never before published, arranged in chronological order, with an Introduction, by Agnes Strickland, author of the "Lives of the Queens of England," and EMBELLISHED WITH A

The price of this work in England is about $5-of the New World edition 25 cents! No work has appeared for many years, which has excited such general attention and omiration. In the fate of the beautiful and unfortunate Queen of Scots, all the civilized world is to this day deeply interested; and here is the correspondence which actually passed between herself and Queen Elizabeth, and here also are her private letters on numerous topics, now first brought to light, and edited by this accomplished lady. "There is this attractive feature," says Miss Strickland, "in all the letters of Mary, Queen of Scots: they are full of demestic traits and the natural feelings of the heart. Tritles from her pen assume a grace, and delight us, because of the unaffected simplicity with which she writes."

Price 25 cests; Six copies for $1, or $16 per hundred. Office 30 Ann street, where may be had all the cheap BOOKS FOR THE PEOPLE," in Extra numbers of the New World, at 121 to 25 cents each.

I Dr. Rush's Health Pills .- The unpretendng and uninflated form in which these highly valuable Pills are presented to the public, arises not from any doubt or absence of those merits with which they by universal estimony abound, and which require not the resort to long and protracted homilies of virtues unattested and testimo nies unauthenticated, tedious in detail, fallacious in theory. mercenary in effect. The sole proprietor of Dr. Rush's HEALTH PILLS has the public good at heart as forcibly as the philanthropic and publicly distinguished inventor. Like the benevolent testator of this invaluable legacy, he seeks only the fame and merit of giving a sound direction to the public judgement, by means honorable and faithful, without the aid of lengthy columns, as harrassing to the eye as the nostrums they eulogise are indigestible and nauseous to the stomach. He therefore briefly, fearlessly and frankly recommends in every family, of every sex, siz- and age, DR. RUSH'S HEALTH PILLS.

He appeals to the testimony of him whose youthful constitution has, to all appearance, been mortgaged to immortality; to the Dyspeptic, whose tortures have consigned him to despair and the consequences of hope deferred;' to the afflicted with gout, rheumatism, and diseased liver; to the free indulger in the luxuries of the table; in fact, without applying the empirical term, ever abused, of an infallible medicine, giving confidence that, in all and any of the above catalogue, these Pills never have failed, and never (humany speaking) can fail of performing a cure, under proper regimen and adherence to the directions. As such, they have succeeded to the full purport of their pretensions; and as such, they are extensively disseminated, and sincerely recommended to universal adoption.

Sold wholesale and retail at the principal office, 30 Ann street, by H. G. DAGGERS; and retail by Wadleigh, 459 Broadway; 267 Broadway; 168 Bowery; 75 Chambers-st; 356 Pearl st; 211 Fulton-st; 604 Fulton-st Brooklyn; 4 Stanwix Hall, Albany; 320 Broad-st. Newark; Thos. F. Pease,

John M. Quackenbos .- Appeal in a case of bankruptcy, lecree of discharge having been refused by the District Judge. The petitioner was of the firm of Griggs, Quackenbos & Day, which stopped payment and made preferences in Nov. 1840; and also paid preferred creditors is January and February 1841. The refusal of the District Judge was based on the ground that their acts and declarations prior to 1st Jan. 1841, showed that they made pefer ences in contemplation of bankruptcy; and that their making preferences subsequent to the 1st Jan. 1841, under any circumstances, debarred them from discharge. Judges Thompsen, in his charge, fully coincided in opinion with with the District Judge. However honorable the conduct of the petitioner might have been in paying his clerks and securing confidential debts, still it was in opposition to the Bankrupt law-the clause in which relating to proceedings subsequently to the 1st Jan. 1841, was to sweep away er. tirely the principle of preferences. The assignment of the petitioner was according to mercantile usage and approved y our courts, s'ill it was an offence against the Bankrupt ict. The Jury returned a verdict that John M. Quackenbos is not entitled to his discharge.

U. S. DISTRICT COURT .- In Bankruptcy .and J. L. Joseph. The petitioners obtained a decree, and received their certificates of discharge.

COMMON PLEAS .- Catherine Van Winkle vs. George W. Earle .- Assault and battery, damages laid at $2000. The parties boarded with Mrs. Tompkins, Bleecker street, and difficulty took place between them in regard to the use of a table, the plaintiff wishing to cut out a cape and the defendant to write. The lady swept the papers on the floor and received a severe push in return, which threw her against a door. Under all the circumstances the jury found for defendant.

SECOND SOARD.

Commercial and Money Matters. TUESDAY, P. M.

There was a fair business done to-day but rates were generally lower. Delaware sold 4 per cent, lower than the last cash sale. Harlem declined 1 per cent; Paterson ; In State Stocks there was not much done but rates were firm. State Sevens improved i; State Fives i; Ohio Sixes i; Kentucky 4.

Large sales Francs have been made to-day at 5 45 5 45}. Sterling is steady at 6 a 63.

Mobile is not quite so brisk to-day. We quote 113 a 12c discount

By an extra iron, the Georgia Messenger, we learn that he facts in relation to the Ockmulgee Bank are substantially as we stated them on Monday last. The Charleston Courier states that at the time of the suspension the S. W. Rank, having disposed of the whole, and that the suspension of the Ockmulgee was not caused by any act of the S W. R. Bank, who acted throughout in good faith.

The Georgia Legislature has passed an act by which a license of $500 is placed on Brokers, and $2000 on Bank Agencies. A letter from Columbus states that in censequence the Agencies in that place of the Brunswick, Augusta, and State Banks have been clos d.

The North American Insurance Company has declared a dividend of five per cent, payable 15th inst. The Patapsco Bank, Baltimore, has divided two and a half per cent.

A private letter from Mexico states that a treaty has been concluded between the Mexican Government and General Thompson, by which the payment of the awards made by the late Convention at Washington, are to be made in instalments of one-twentieth every three months.

Counterfeit ten doilar notes of the Northern Bank of Kentucky have made their appearance at Wheeling. They are of the branch plate, letter A, vignetie, a railroad train. On comparison, they will be found about an eighth of an inch shorter than the genuine note. The engraving appears lighter than the genuine. A Dr. Leonard has been arrested at Louisville for passing these notes. Counterfeit threes on the Chautauque County Bank, have appeared at Buffalo. Paper thicker and inferior to genuine. Signature of Presi-dent Samuel Barrett, miserably executed. Words "on denand" and "three dollars" left out entirely. No engraver's name. First rate counterfeit, but quarter of an inch shorter Markets-Carefully reported for The Tribune. TUESDAY, Dec. 6.

ASHES-The market remains very quiet and Pots are neavy at $5 371, indeed we believe there are no huyers totay at over $5 25. We hear of no sales. Of Pearls we only hear of 20 bbls sold, which brought $6 00, and although none can be had less yet the demand is so limited that the mar set cannot be considered firm. There are no bills out to-

COTTON-The sales continue limited, not exceeding today 3 to 400 bales, and prices are rather drooping yet .-There appears to be little disposition to buy among export. ers, who are waiting the daily expected advices by the Cunard boat. We quote fair Upland 7 a 71; fair New-Orleans and Alabama 74 a 74.

FLOUR-There is very little doing to-day and prices are heavy, so much so that it is doubtful if the market can be sustained at present rates. We quote Genesee $5 00 asking price with some sales at 3d to 6d off. Michigan and Ohio $4 87 a 5 00. A sale of Michigan was made to-day at 4 84. Troy is scarce and held at $5 00. A small parcel of New-Orleans sold at $4 75. There is some enquiry for Southern. We notice sales 200 bbls Brandywine, afloat, at $5 00, and small parcels Richmond Country and Petersburg at $4 69. Georgetown is held at $4 871; Alexandria $4 69 at 4 75 .-Richmond City $5 75. Pennsylvania $4 874, all nominal .-Rye Flour is selling, out of store, in lots, for North River $3 12\frac{1}{2} a 3 25; Jersey $3 25 a 3 37\frac{1}{2}. Meal $2 56\frac{1}{2} a 2 62\frac{1}{2} for Jersey, dull; Brandywine, bbls $2 75; hbds $12 75 a 13 25, cash and 4 months. There is a fair demand for Buckwhe at $2 75 a 3 00 for common; 3 25 for good.

GRAIN-The small stock of Wheat has enabled holders o obtain slightly improved prices. We notice sales 1700 bushels Illinois at 97c, for British Provinces. A sale of 1000 bushels Rye was made in the slip, for the East, at 624, which is a decline. Some holders, however, still are firm at high prices. The supply is large. No Barley offering. There is not a great deal of Corn offering and the rates are rather oking up. Sales 3000 bushels Virginia and Maryland, of and new, at 53c, weight, delivered; 1100 do Jersey at 54c new Northern is held at 47, and old at 53, weight, and 56c. measure, with limited sales. Oats are not very brisk and rather less firm. We quote 30 a 32 A cargo of Southern s unsold. The only parcels of Buckwheat in market we have heard of this season have been received within the last ten days, together about 300 bushels, and sold at 40 a 42. No Shorts or Ship Stuffs now affoat. Sale of a cargo latter 2000 bushels, at 15c. The former are held in store at 10 a
